10 out of 10 toxic behaviors that every man should do. And yes, I said should do. Number one, ruthless prioritization. This means cutting off everybody who wastes your time, even if you see them in everyday life. Number two, setting hard boundaries. This is what having self-respect and standards look like and most men nowadays struggle with this, especially when it comes to women. You will be called cold, misogynistic, narcissistic, because you're no longer allowing people to walk all over you. And number three, emotional detachment. This doesn't mean you don't love and care for other people, but you don't set yourself up to be disappointed. You become very good at simply taking everything for what it is. And this helps you develop emotional control, which ultimately allows yourself to no longer be influenced by anyone except yourself. My name is Ben and my goal is to make you the most masculine and best version of yourself. So if you want more men's self-improvement videos, then hit the follow.
